President's Letter – September 2021

Brother Shillelaghs

Welcome to September. Looking forward to Local summer, the start of fall, football, baseball pennant races, and the dart league starting back up. September will be a busy one for the club.

The club will be holding a Fundraiser for Belmar Recreation on Friday September 17th, from 6-9pm. The cost is $50 per person which includes, salad, unlimited beefsteak, fries, desert, coffee, tea, draft beer and wine. Music will be provided by Vinyl. If you would like to purchase tickets, please see the events page of our website, <https://www.friendlysonsoftheshillelagh.com/events>. All proceeds benefit Belmar Recreation. Craig Coyle is the contact for this event.

On Saturday September 18th our Half Way to St. Patrick's Day party will take place from 2-7pm. It will be under the tent with traditional Irish fare provided by the kitchen crew and live music from Turnpike Mike and big John Perry and The Pipes and Drums of the Jersey Shore.

On Wednesday September 29th, the club will be hosting a cigar night starting at 6:30pm. Proceeds will benefit the Monmouth County Conference of PBA's. The Monmouth County conference is a nonprofit organization that represents over 3000 police officers throughout Monmouth County. The cost of the event is $25 if paid in advance and $30 at the door, which would give you a hand rolled cigar a domestic beer and dinner. (Cash bar thereafter). Contact Wayne Berning or Dave Matteo with any questions.

The Shillelagh 5k and Mile Walk is scheduled for Saturday October 2nd. There is a sign-up sheet and information about sponsorship opportunities inside the newsletter. This year the net proceeds from the race will be donated to St. Rose Elementary school in memory of Pat Magovern. Pat was a beloved member of the club and he was key member of the Race Committee. Pat acted as liaison with the Belmar and Spring Lake police, would set the course the morning of the race and help organize the volunteers who acted as course marshals. Pat will truly be missed and look forward to honoring him with the running of this race that he was so instrumental in getting off the ground. To sign-up for the 5k race or mile walk you can do it online. <https://runsignup.com/.../Belmar/Shilleagh5KandOneMileWalk> You can also donate money to the cause on this website as well. Please contact Bill Ryan if you would like to sponsor the race or if you have any questions. info. fsosbelmar@gmail.com

The club will be holding a Comedy Night on Saturday October 2nd. There will be three comedians. Tent opens at 6pm. The show runs from 7-9pm. Tickets will go fast and seating will be limited. Tickets can be purchased online at <https://events.eventgroove.com/event/Shillelagh-Comedy-Night-54316>. The hard copy tickets will be available at the club on Wednesday, 09/08. Any questions, contact John Carr, 732-996-3039.

We will be looking to have an outdoor football tailgate party. More details will be provided once a date is set and we get closer to the event.

Once again, I would like to remind everyone please do not come to the club if you are not feeling well. Do not come to the club if you are experiencing flu like symptoms, have any of the Covid symptoms or have been in contact with someone who has tested positive. Thank you all for your continued cooperation.

Stay safe everyone!

Irish History #84

Preparing for Peace Talks

In August 1921, the Cabinet passed a motion changing Eamon de Valera's title as President of the Dail Eireann (Irish Parliament) to "President of the Republic who shall also be Prime Minister." De Valera took the title to mean that he should no longer be looked upon as a party leader but as the representative of the nation. In other words, he felt he was "the symbol" of the Republic.

The motion also restructured the Cabinet into the Prime Minister and six "Secretaries of State." In addition to de Valera, the six were: Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, Austin Stack, Cathal Brugha, Robert Barton and W.T. Cosgrave. (Cosgrave would become leader of the Irish Free State after the death of Collins.)

Once he was named President of the Irish Republic, de Valera announced that he would not attend the substantive peace negotiations in London. Collins argued de Valera, as head of the government and the person who had been meeting with Prime Minister David Lloyd George, should go. The Cabinet Secretaries voted on the issue. They split 3-to-3. Collins, Griffith and Cosgrave for de Valera going; Stack, Brugha and Barton against.

De Valera cast the deciding vote in favor of his staying home. He did not want his name attached to what was surely going to happen; that is, compromises would have to be made during the talks. Like a "soldier," Collins accepted the defeat of his motion for de Valera to attend, and his appointment by de Valera as second-in-command of the negotiating team.

Going to London was dangerous for Collins. After all, he had led the fight for Irish freedom. But it was de Valera's way of setting him up for failure. De Valera worried Collins would accept Dominion status for Ireland in the negotiations as a first step to full independence. (In the end, that is what happened.) De Valera wanted to stay out of the settlement fray until negotiations were concluded, at which time he planned to rescue and resolve the treaty with his vague "External Association" concept. He thought this maneuver would assure his "political future as leader of a Republican party" in Ireland.

Although not known at the time, the 3-to-3 Cabinet vote on whether de Valera should attend was a harbinger of things to come. It symbolized how republicans would split after the Anglo-Irish Treaty was signed and passed by the Dail. De Valera, Stack and Brugha were on the anti-Treaty side, while Collins and Griffith were on the pro-Treaty side. The anti-pro Treaty split was bitter, and it led to the deadly Irish Civil War.

Before the peace settlement conference commenced, Lloyd George once again made clear to de Valera that the talks were premised on de Valera's acceptance of certain pre-conditions. First, Irish representatives were not negotiating on behalf of "an independent and sovereign State." Second, Ireland was going to remain part of the British Commonwealth with allegiance to the throne.

De Valera prepared a "Draft Treaty A" in August for the plenipotentiaries (Irish delegation to formal peace talks) to take with them to London. (See Chapter 83). This draft treaty addressed issues related to trade, finance, national defense, the Crown and the Empire (i.e., Ireland's status), and Ulster. The draft treaty was in the form of a "memorandum," which de Valera had prepared for Lloyd George in July "but had decided not to send."

De Valera also prepared but did not release a "Draft Treaty B", which "allegedly" contained the terms Ireland was prepared to accept "but in fact was intended for use as propaganda should the talks break down." Neither draft treaty was in a final form. Thus, according to Collins, confusion surrounded the exact terms of settlement the plenipotentiaries were supposed to gain. This was a terrible position for any negotiator trying to reach a beneficial settlement. And it hurt the Irish team of novice negotiators, who were going-up against Lloyd George and his British team of experienced and skilled negotiators.

Reaching agreement on language dealing with trade, finance and defense was not expected to be difficult. The 1920 Government of Ireland Act created the province of Northern Ireland within the United Kingdom. (See Chapter 78). As for Ulster, gaining the “essential unity” of the entire island (i.e., north and south) was critical for two of the plenipotentiaries - Griffith and Collins. The British refused to use force to coerce Ulster’s re-unification with the South, but were not otherwise opposed to finding some other path that might allow it to happen.

Language dealing with The Crown and the Empire, however, proved to be a major area of disagreement. As Frank Pakenham points out in his book Peace by Ordeal, terms like “Dominion Status, Allegiance to the Crown and Common Citizenship” are provocative, and they engender “passionate loyalties and antipathies in the minds of delegates and peoples.”

Despite Lloyd George’s admonition, the draft treaty the plenipotentiaries took to London called for Ireland to be recognized as a “sovereign independent state.” The parties, however, had to be aware that this was a non-starter. This incomplete draft treaty called upon Great Britain to renounce “all claim to govern or legislate for Ireland,” and it stated that Ireland agreed “to become an External Association of the Commonwealth.” It also recognized reciprocal rights for Irish and British citizens, but not common citizenship.

In reality, External Association looked a lot like Dominion Status. Under either format, Ireland would be a member of the Commonwealth. But the phrases were matters of principle. They evoked different feelings and meant different things to the parties. To de Valera, External Association meant that Ireland was independent from Great Britain and an equal nation to it. It meant the dream of a Republic would be preserved. To Lloyd George, the phrase meant “imperfect loyalty” to the Crown. He also did not want it to appear as if Ireland had been able to fight its “way out of the Empire.”

According to Pakenham, the British viewed Dominion Status as “the supreme symbol of unity” with the Crown. The Irish, however, viewed it as subjecting their freedom to British whims. Under Dominion Status, the Irish felt they remained “Britain’s children.”

The peace talks opened on October 8, 1921. At that point, roughly 2250 had been killed during the Irish War of Independence. Although fighting had ended in the South in July when the truce came into effect, the number of deaths increased because the IRA continued to attack targets in Northern Ireland and because of a pogrom waged against Catholics in Belfast.

A key question throughout the negotiations was whether any practical differences between External Association and Dominion Status made a return to war worth it? Thinking about how many more would die if hostilities resumed made any permanent peace settlement look like it was the best option.

Underlying this question was another significant one. If a return to war was the result of failed negotiations, who was better positioned to win the battle? Collins feared the answer was the British.

Dear Friends:

The Pipes and Drums of the Jersey Shore Shillelaghs will be hosting our annual 2021 Memorial Golf Outing at Pebble Creek Golf Course in Colts Neck, NJ on Monday October 4, 2021. Over the last 20 years, this event has allowed the band a great opportunity to raise funds for its equipment and transportation fund as well as for area charities that help sick children. Our fund raising efforts have been a big success thanks to people like you who participate in the outing or sponsor a hole on the course.

This year, we hope to have over 120 golfers and spectators enjoy a beautiful day on the “links.” We are asking for the support of the business community to sponsor our outing and help us meet our fundraising goals for this year. Hole and refreshment stop sponsors are needed and all proceeds will be used to offset the band’s equipment needs and for specific charities.

Please consider “sponsoring” a hole, a refreshment cart, or a grill pit. We will proudly display a sign on the course acknowledging your generous support of our efforts. We are an IRS 501(3) (c) charitable organization and all donations are tax-deductible. Please complete the attached form and return it to the above address with your check by 9/30/21 so that we can have the signs prepared for the outing. You can contact John Giblin (732) 904-4480 or myself (732) 267-1233 if you need our Tax-ID number or if you have any questions. Thank you for your generous support.

The Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh of the Jersey Shore

Dear Friend,

The Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh of the Jersey Shore is requesting sponsors for our 7th Annual 5K Run and 1 Mile Walk. This event will take place on Saturday, October 2, 2021 at Bar Anticipation.

Each year our net proceeds are donated to various charitable causes.

This year we will be raising funds and dedicating the race to Pat Magovern, one of the founders of the Shillelagh 5k Race & Walk. Pat was a police officer with the Borough of Belmar for over 30 years, retiring as Captain, as well as a beloved brother of the Order of the Friendly Sons of the Shillelagh of the Jersey Shore. We will be raising funds for St. Rose Grammar School and PBA 50 in his memory and the remainder of the funds will go towards funding the Shillelagh Education Fund, which provides college scholarships to local applicants and helps individual people in need.

This event has continued to grow each year and we appreciate the support of our sponsors. We welcome your suggestions in helping us make this a fun, successful and safe community event for all involved.

Any monetary sponsorship, gift cards, or donations of supplies would be greatly appreciated.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions. I can be reached at info.fsosbelmar@gmail.com.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Bill Ryan

In this still extraordinary time of COVID-19, we need to be there for local restaurants. Many of the restaurants listed below have supported the Friendly Sons of Shillelagh in one way or another or a member works there. It's important to help these places, many Member Owned, during and after this pandemic.

We apologize in advance if we inadvertently left anyone off. Please reach out and let us know if you are missing from the list and offering take out.

For over 40 years, we've measured success just one way: Satisfied Customers

There was a time when Print & Copy shops were experienced and guided their customers. The goal was simple: commit to your customer's needs; be hardworking and humble; be knowledgeable in your work and uncompromising in your values. The rest will take care of itself.

Our success proves there is still room in the world for Print & Copy shops to embrace an approach that has stood the test of time:
Experienced Staff and Customer Satisfaction...Always!
